“this is a clear example of what happens when these big hospitals are allowed to exploit their market share at the expense of the rest of us.”

Aetna has a long-standing relationship with the federal government, serving as the government-wide medical indemnity carrier when the FEHBP was first established.

If all legal firearms were used for hunting or sport shooting, the need for self-defense weapons wouldn’t exist.