It’s an exceptionally good thing that I love to see in games, whether they’re restrained and masterfully engineered pieces like Dark Souls or wacky exploding sandbox gun-fun like JC2.

The Icare system is a motorized elliptical trainer for repetitive gait training and has integrated sensors to detect the level of assistance needed.

"More income and less worry is a hard combination to beat," he said.

You are making it entertaining and you still take care of to keep it smart.