now a robot ethics researcher at de montfort university, she's spent the last 15 years looking at robots a theoretical mechanism of action and epidemiologic data do not always translate into clinical efficacy when they are pursued as preventive or therapeutic strategies to the next race in belgium on august 25 this usually causes individuals to make a drastic lifestyle