it would be nice to think that seabright is right, that things will gradually get better of their own accord, and the invisible hand of the market will magically make everything all right

one of the smallest regions in the plant hardiness zone map, zone 9 includes central florida, the gulf coast of louisiana and texas, much of california and the southern oregon coast