being non-digestible, these sugars would not cause a spike in blood glucose while allowing the person who ingests them to still experience a sweet taste.

my own body can do that well enough by itself.

i know my subscribers would appreciate your work